FREE RIDE MUST END
 It must have been a shock to the socialists to be told by the United States Supreme Court that business enterprises run by states and municipalities in competition with private enterprise, are subject to the same Federal tax laws as private enterprise. In holding New York State's mineral water business as taxable, the court said: "If Congress makes no differentiation and, as in this case, taxes all vendors of mineral water alike, whether state vendors or private vendors, it simply says, in effect, to the state: You may carry out your notions of social policy in engaging in what is called business, but you must pay your share in having a nation which enables you to pursue your policy." There is no reason why Federal business competition with private citizens should not also be taxable.

Socialists have long capitalized on the tax-exemption privileges of government-owned enterprises. The TVA, Bonneville, Grand Coulee and many other government hydroelectric projects have created an illusion of cheap electricity because they have not been forced to pay taxes comparable to the private companies with which they compete. Their greatly publicized "low" electric rates could be duplicated or bettered by the private electric industry if it did not have to hand over to government 20 cents in taxes out of every dollar received, taxes that must be collected from its customers and which must help to offset the tax-exemption privileges enjoyed by consumers of government electricity.

truck from the factory to be delivered to a city in Tennessee. The route to be traveled home will be in excess of 1000 miles, and will take a week to complete.

As soon as the new truck is installed in the local fire house, the firemen plan to tear down the present large truck for a complete overhauling, which will complete the job in five years of service to the truck, which has already seen ten years service in the local department. The No. 1 truck, vintage of 1912, will also receive some repairs and be held on reserve for fire use if needed.

Whitlock's To Move Packing House Location

Prior to the recent rainy spell, O. W. Manning, of Bean City, had been given contract to move the Bache Whitlock packing house from its present location, to a site a mile nearer the state highway 80, but weather conditions prevented the work being started but it is now underway.

This job is quite an extensive one, as the main building is long and heavy, and the preloading plant is no toy. The Whitlock's plan to make addition to the main building and will do their celery washing and packing there.

Deadline For Leave Bonds Is Sept. 1st.

World War II veterans who have not yet filed claims for leave have only until September 1st to submit their applications, according to James A. Stafford, county veterans service officer. "Quite a number of veterans have delayed this matter, and the filing period is about to expire," Stafford observed. "This terminal leave application means cash to eligible veterans if they apply before September 1st."

Those wishing to file terminal leave claims should contact one of their service discharges, and those who served with the Navy should also submit forms to NAVPERM Form 553 to their service discharges. Stafford pointed out that, although Congress recently authorized cash redemption... being September 1... of bonds now held by veterans, no specific instructions on cashing the bonds have been received. When such information is received, it will be made available immediately to veterans in this area, he stated.

Group Learn About Fine Points In Cattle Grading

Some 75 cattlemen gathered at the Experiment station on Friday, August 1st, for a Live Stock Grading Demonstration, put on by C. E. Murphy of the United States Department of Agriculture from Washington.

The demonstration was arranged by L. H. Lewis, of the Florida State Marketing Bureau, a specialist in his line of work, and R. W. Kidder, of the Experiment station staff. The animals subjected to grading were from the Kidder herd at the station.

Among the men present there were 42 cattlemen, county agents, agriculture school instructors and students, who took great interest in what was being demonstrated before them, the demonstration of terms used in the grading process and the methods to be used in getting animals ready for the market.

Mr. Ryan after his lecture, gave a demonstration of how to grade the different types of animal, and then permitted the spectators to do a little grading of their own, to learn how right they were in the work. He held that inexperienced graders were inclined to grade too high, and might feel that expert graders were jipping them but that experience was necessary for both buyer and seller.

OBSERVATIONS

dress as a pitcher. Many an hour have I spent back of the office catching his offerings, but he became too speedy for my amateur efforts. Ames was one of the best fast ball pitchers ever to break into professional ranks, but was known as the "hard luck" boy owing to the numerous close score games he lost.

Terry Turner, was a medium sized low headed lad, fast as lightning and as slick a performer in field and bat as any one wanted to see. When on the Cleveland Indians he was an infield mate of Lajoie, the king second baseman, and when they got into action, a fan really saw something of grace, beauty and effectiveness.

Several years ago, I found it necessary to clean out my Warren home attic, of its accumulative rubbish of years and there ran across a pile of old score books, which brought back fond remembrances of the past, and the many players with whom I had had contact. These I took down to the newspaper for placement in its sport department archives.

City Building Inspector King can do a pretty good job at carpentering, which he learned when a boy. His tool box he has a hammer which his great grandfather fashioned out of a piece of steel at his forge. Not much like the hammers of today, but a good sturdy tool for heavy work. He also has a very ancient Briggs gun, one of the very first to have the "muzzle load" method of firing. Both of these souvenirs of the past are highly prized by the owner. They also say that the inspector is a mighty good preacher. He is looked to conduct an evangelistic campaign in Akron in the very near future.

Since the colored boys of the city garbage department, have been throwing that big net, at night, to catch the stray and tagged dogs in Belle Glade has steadily decreased. Report is that very few dogs placed in the city pound are reclaimed by their owners, or taken out by others, and a result there quite a number of dog executions. Sick, mangled, half starved dogs on the street are not a good advertisement for the city and this move of the city to get rid of all such canines is one of the best of public commonsense.

Have you been out on the road improvement job and seen how the big equipment performs its work? It can read time when all this type of work was performed by manual labor with the pick and shovel, handled by Italians, Greeks, Swedes and Irish workers. That was mainly a "pitch" job, but with these big machines it is a "dig" operation, and how material can be handled in the modern methods of road building is almost miraculous.

At one time Dade county was a broad expanse reaching from the north bank of the St. Lucie river southward to Monroe county and up the gulf coast to Manatee. Miami was the first county seat, and then it was moved over to Jomo south of Jupiter. Here the first frame court house was erected and dedicated 1890. When the county records were removed from Miami to Juno, they came by Indian canoe over the Everglades water route, via Okcechosee lake. Out of this wild territory several of the present counties were carved such as St. Lucie, part of Brevard, Martin, Palm Beach, and Broward. Palm Beach county was established in 1909 with West Palm Beach at the county seat, where the county has as fine a court house as any like in the state.

At that period little was known of the west Everglades and no one had any imagination that the sector would become the rich garden spot of the present day, turning out its millions of wealth in form of winter vegetables, rams cattle and farm products, an area that now is in the eye of the nation.

Pahokee people feeling very happy over the fact that the county farmer's airport is to be located near that city. The site is not too inconvenient for all Glades shippers to reach, if they plan to service their market shipment by air plane. It should be an important improvement from an agricultural standpoint, and the question arises, what about the future of our own port?

Indications are that there will be quite a shifting of personnel at the Belle Glade park-houses this season. Old standbys at some of the houses are booked for services at other locations, and it will take a bit of hunting around to locate them.

"Scrap shops" are quite common affairs in northern states, and the operators of some sort or other seem to accumulate sizeable estates. The first of this type of stores to be opened in the Glades, is at South Bay, owned and operated by a crippled veteran. While carrying some regular merchandise stock, yet, will trade or swap for other articles on hand, for something that you may want to dispose of, on something of an equality basis. This is an interesting game, and its surprising the number of odd or unusual items that find their way to the store. Drop in and see and he will be glad to show his wares and explain the method of carrying on the business. Something like the "old curiosity" shop, of Dickens's fame.

The State Park and Road Departments have found the eight road side camp sites which they have established in various sections of the state, have proved very popular with the country side folk and tourists. Plans are in the making for the establishment of a larger number of them this coming year. We could stand several of them in the Glades area. One site under consideration is the Indian battle field site just south of Taylor creek on Highway 15. The Okcechoos county Commissioners will be given a sizeable acreage as a public park, if funds for improvements can be secured. This is historical ground for Florida, for it was here that the Seminoles put up their last fight against the Federal forces. The Daughters of the American Revolution have already marked the spot with one of its region monuments. The site could be developed into one of the show spots of Florida and this region.

Belle Glade is likely to surpass Clewiston as a seat for the Federal conference hearings on projected projects which effect the Glades area. In the past two years Belle Glade has had a half dozen such hearings here, and there is bright prospects for more in the future. Let them come if it only brings relief and progressive activities to the region.

It took considerable bravery for a near 90 year old man to take his first cross continent air plane trip. But, Judge George Hubbell, took it in stride, and planned to enjoy the trip, as well as his vacation visit to the states of the Pacific area, familiar to him in his young manhood days.

Nylon manufacturers have turned to the humble corn cob as an ingredient for the manufacture their fabrics, and will use 100,000 tons a year. Processes have been invented which will use corn cobs for the manufacture of furfural and glucose.

The following little squib ought to bring a smile to devotees of the national pastime of cards:

Last night I held a little hand.
So dainty and so sweet.
I thought my heart would surely break.

So wildly did it beat.
No other hand in all the world
Can greater solace bring.
Than the pretty hand I held last night—

New Ford Tractor

DETROIT—Good news for the farming community as the new Ford tractor rolls off the production line of Ford's Highland Park plant at the rate of 400 daily. Features include an improved hydraulic system for implement control and four forward gears. With the new line of Dearborn farm equipment, the Ford tractor is nationally by Dearborn Motors Corporation. Michigan farmer, J. C. Carlson tries out the new tractor at Dearborn Motors' experimental farm, Clarkston, Michigan.

ONLY GULF COAST (Continued from Page 3) showed that the minimum level of the lake was 17.17; in the West Palm Beach canal at Big Mound canal 18.17 South levees of the South Florida Conservancy district, 19.50; and that the lake level was 18 inches above the highest ground level. That the crest of the flood in the West Palm Beach canal had been east of Twenty mile bend.

He stated that in order to preserve its crops the U. S. S.

C. had expended over $35,000 to date to strengthen and build over 30 miles of its dikes. That if dikes were not again built to the region, and it was not an impossibility, wiping out the industrial and farming interest, investments, he did not know from what source finances would be obtainable to rebuild certainly not from the farmers, or did he know who would buy bonds if such an issue was offered.

He advocated the establishment of one or more additional main drainage canals, independent of navigation interests, having a capacity of drainage equal to the inflow to the lake from the drainage area. He advocated a 16 foot level.

J. E. Beardsley of Cleveland, a member of the EDD board, but speaking as a farmer, called attention to the fact that none of the drainage canals had been given much attention or improvement since they were built, except the North New River canal, when the new highway was built. That in their present physical condition, most of them hyacinth clogged, that none of the canals could carry the volume of water expected of them. He favored the EDD engineer's figures for the lake level, stating that farmers would rather take a chance on fire losses than losses occurring from the present high lake level.

R. Y. Creech, Sr., chairman of the RDB drainage committee, had a pungent address and plenty to say why a lower lake level should be established and maintained. Among his statements were: That for 30 years the farmers had been taxed to death, no much as $50,000 as there for improvements and with annual crop losses, they could no longer pay the high taxes that have had run into the millions.

That when the EDD built out of its own resources the St. Lucie canal and some work on the Caloosahatchee, navigation did not enter into the picture, but now those interests, who never paid a dime for their construction, some and want protection for their interests as against the interests of the farmers, who did pay for them. That when the dike was constructed around the lake the main objective was for the protection of life and property and navigation had no part in the deal. That the building of the dike was one of the best investments the U. S. Government had ever made, and if there was a total annihilation of the income taxes which the area had paid in late years, it would be found that the dike had not cost the Government a copper penny.

He stated that the Island farmers who owned some of the richest and best production land in all the Glades, had experienced a tough time, and the neglect of the government to give dike protection had caused heavy losses. That to farm on Ritta Island, land owners had to make their own costly improvements.

Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth outlined her farm holdings and the effects of the recent damage which had been sustained during the past flood season. She stated that the dike which had been breached by the heavy pressure of outside flood waters and that at least one of the estate farms could not possibly be fitted up for farming purposes this season.

Representatives of the Okeechita Growers and the Serallles corporations, interested in sugar cane and cattle ranches down on Road 25, each spoke of their conditions, as being independent from the drainage districts but favored a lower lake level, as an aid to them in their projects.

Harley Watson, large cane grower, told of the efforts which had been put forth to save his 400 acres of valuable sugar cane. He stated that in his opinion it did not require a 17 foot level to care for interests of navigation, the farming and fishing and that a fluctuating level could be established for various times of the year which would meet all demands, as well as to permit adequate drainage in times of stress.

Among the firms, or men, who filed briefs or spoke at the conference as being against the lowering of the lake level were: Marvin Rowell, representative from Martin County; Price French, president of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce; C. W. Ireland, for the Ft. Myers Chamber of Commerce; F. D. Yann, former Glades County Farm Agent, The Belcher Oil Company The Ft. Myers Shipbuilding Corp., U. S. Wildlife Federation, The Uniontown Drainage District, of St. Lucie County; The Deisel Corporation of Jacksonville, H. O. Bester one of the old-

Chief Cochran Has Gripes From Incidents On Trip

Chief of Police W. H. Cochran, who has been off on a vacation trip to Illinois was full of "gripes" when he arrived home, over conditions which he ran across on his trip, and it was interesting to hear him relate them. First, he started to drive north, but on reaching Greenville, Miss., he housed his car, and made the trip to and from Kankakee, Ill., by fast train to Cincinnati and Chicago. He states he found bad roads, highways crowded with heavy truck and semi-trailer outfits, whose drivers hogged all the highway, unconcerned about the safety of smaller cars.

Being pure southern gentleman, he was most disgusted over the manner in which the colored people north of the Mason and Dixon line, freely mingled with the white people, in trains, depots, eating places, and he nearly "choked" when colored men and women came in and sat down by him while he was feeding at the depot and caused him to become so indignant that he forgot he was hungry.

In Illinois he found that crops were way late, and that the month of July had been the coldest on record in more than 100 years. He says, "There are new things in the north, but for him, give him Florida."

John L. Grier Former Registrar Passes This Life

A former highly respected and efficient public officer of Palm Beach County, recently passed this life, after an illness of two weeks from a stroke, in the personage of John L. Grier, former county supervisor of registration, his acquaintance being county wide.

Mr. Grier was born at Pineville N. C., on November 12, 1880 and came to West Palm Beach in 1931, and was connected with the large hotels at the beach. Later he filled public office in West Palm Beach, and when the county was formed in 1909, by appointment of Governor Gilchrist, he took over the Registration office duties which position he held until the present incumbent Dewitt Upthegrove, assumed those duties.

He was twice married and a widower at the time of his death, of late making his home with his daughter. He was a member and deacon in the Baptist church, of which he was one of the founders, and of the Carpenter's Union.

Funeral services were held at the Ferguson funeral home, and were conducted by Rev. Edward B. Jenkins McClenny, and burial was at Woodlawn cemetery, but the services being largely attended by officials and friends.

Belle Glade Elk's Initiate Class Ten New Members

Seating capacity was at a premium at the session of the Elk's Lodge, July 28, and a really worth while and entertaining program was enjoyed.

This was the occasion of the appearance of the noted degree team of the Palokoke Lodge, headed by former District Deputy Frank O'Connell, for the conferring of the initiatory work for a class on ten candidates recruited by the local lodge. Only words of praise were spoken for the excellent and impressive manner in which the work was presented.

The lodge roll was increased by the admission of the following candidates: L. N. Knight, G. L. Graves, Roy A. Bair, Audie Corbett, L. W. Corrier, C. T. Hayes, H. H. Pugh, Walter Ashley, August Kirshman, C. A. Thomas, which brings the local lodge membership up to around the 150 mark.

Another unexpected treat was the presentation of a line report by Exalted Ruler Harold Rosenberg, of the Palokoke lodge, on the recent national convention in Portland, Oregon, which he attended.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

"SPIRIT" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, August 10. The Golden Text is "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God; thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness" (Psalms 143:10).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord. According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue" (II Peter 1:2-3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The calm strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity, and self-mastery, must deepen human experience, until the beliefs of material existence seem to be a bald imposition, and sin, disease, and death give ever-lasting place to the scientific demonstration of divine Spirit and to God's spiritual, perfect man" (99:23).
